Thank You.....

During the 2019/2020 fiscal year, with a heart of charity and concern for the vulnerable members of Amudat community about 4 donors gave more than 50,000 USD to AIDI to address HIV-AIDS/TB, GBV and poverty challenges and also enabled the organization to operate.

Bottom line: We are a small organization, but with your help and that of many others, we're delivering our mission to work together to promote the respect of human rights, harmonious living, and holistic development.

What We Do

Our staff, volunteers and community resource persons, "reach people to fish" by giving them stronger voices with improved livelihoods. When the women, youth, PLWHA, TB clients gain knowledge and skills and trust for our services and achieve new goals in their lives, their lives change for the better. The changes ripple outward to those in their households. And while we are able to report outcomes, what is more difficult to measure is increased self-confidence, self-worth and respect. Our Clients say that makes all the difference.

How We Get It Done

Nine staff and 3 volunteers coordinate the efforts. We operate with a lean budget and a can-do-attitude (sacrifice and commitment) for the common good of the community. Thanks to the generosity of our incredible donors, we raised 150,000 USD in FY 2018/2019/2020.

More and more of you are helping us address issues of human rights violations, violence against children, girls and women, SRHR, HIV/TB and poverty and exclusion in our community. As a result, we're able to work with more PLWHA, children and women, PWDs and orphans and vulnerable persons or people of concern. Thank You...

What's Next?

As a result of your support, we're having record-breaking years and serving more community people than any of our partners in Amudat than ever before!
